WATER MANAGEMENT POLICY

Water covers most of the Earth's surface and is essential for all life on our planet, which is why we all have to think responsibly about the consequences that its pollution or overexploitation can have for us or for generations yet to come. TDR strives to limit its impact on watersheds as well as promote the protection and preservation of water resources in the community in which it operates. We guarantee that in using water as a resource, we will respect the needs of our community.

The company's management board, commits to:

- reduce the impact of our operations on water resources by reducing water use and ensuring wastewater treatment to the extent that it is acceptable for the environment,
- prevent water pollution and manage good water stewardship by implementing and applying legal requirements, BAT standards, ISO 14001:2015 and the International Water Stewardship Standard issued by Alliance for Water Stewardship (AWS) and in accordance with corporate rules adequately communicate and disclose progress,
- prevent pollution and manage good water stewardship in a socially and culturally fair, environmentally sustainable and economically useful manner, with open and transparent engagement of stakeholders taking into account the specificities of the catchment where the site is located, and align the implementation and application of standards with the catchment sustainability plans,
- perform an assessment of the water resources status for future generations and reduce the risks to the environment and society associated with our use of water resources,
- perform a risk assessment for all activities that may cause a negative impact on water consumption and quality,
- respect the status and pay special attention to important water-related areas (IWRA),
- develop awareness of the importance and reasonable use of water resources,
- through local and international partner programs, involve local communities in the process of developing citizens' awareness of the need to protect water resources,
- in cooperation with key stakeholders, contribute to the development of standards and policies related to the protection of water resources,
- provide qualified and motivated personnel as well as allocate resources necessary for the implementation, maintenance and improvement of the water management system,
- cooperate with different organizations and join initiatives such as the Alliance for Water Stewardship and thus promote the protection of water resources, exchange knowledge and experience in that area,
- ensure the availability of drinking water, sanitary and hygienic conditions for everyone present at the location.

The policy is available to all employees, visitors, other persons in the factory and the public and is applied from the day of signing.
